A Wacky Whodunnit

Recognized by the Guinness Book of World Records as the longest-running non-musical play in American theatre history, Shear Madness is a wacky whodunit where the audience gets to solve the crime.

The play is set in a hairstyling salon where the landlady who lives upstairs is murdered and every one of the actors could be a suspect. The performance involves audience members in questioning the actors and attempting to solve the crime, and is filled with up-to-the-minute spontaneous humor and improvisation. It's a different play every night.
